1938

CHILOCCO SEAL

THE school seal was designed in 1927 when students were allowed to submit original designs which typified their ideas of Chilocco in designs. The one chosen combines the ideas of three of the seals submitted.

The center of the seal is a plow and sheaf of wheat indicating that Chilocco is primarily an Agricultural School. Surrounding this motif are the words Chilocco Indian Agricultural School. The small motifs surrounding the words are a book symbolic of the academic work, while at the base of the design is the date of the school's founding, 1884. The other emblems representative of the school's activities are a brush for the paint shop; a cog wheel for the engineering; scissors for home economics; a horse for animal husbandry; a roller for the print shop; a shoe last for the shoe shop; a football for athletics; Indian clubs for physical education; an anvil for auto mechanics and blacksmith; a nurse's cap for the hospital; a cow for the dairy; a rolling pin for home economics; a trowel for masonry; a square for the carpenter shop.

The seal was used for a time on class rings, but this use has been discontinued.

Foreword

The Chiloccoan for 1938 reminds seniors and graduates of the many happy and useful days spent at Chilocco. It is the wish of the Class of '38 that each of its members meet the responsibility which is implied in accepting the training offered by the Chilocco Indian Agricultural School.

H. N. SISCO, M. D.

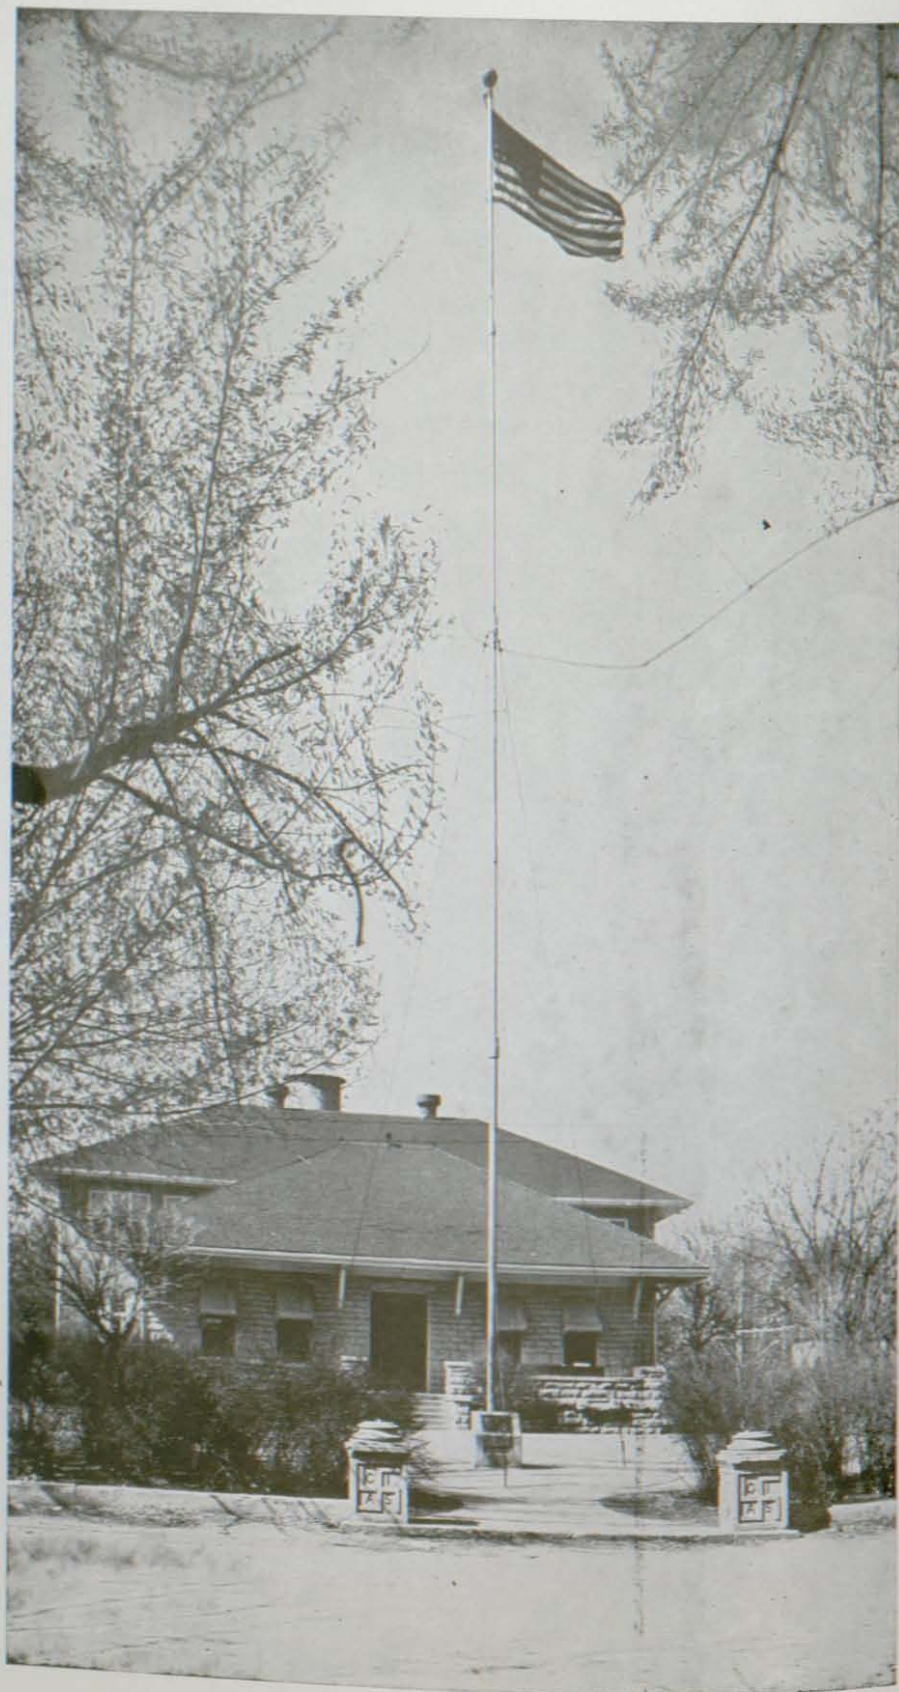

Dedication

In appreciation for his efforts and interest in maintaining good health for the Indian boys and girls at Chilocco, and for the generous sharing of his time in instructing the seniors in health problems, the 1938 Chiloccoan is dedicated to Dr. H. N. Sisco.

AN "OFF THE RECORD" history of the class of '38 reveals—that eight of the seniors are second generation Chiloccoans since one of the parents of each was a former student. These are Paul Little Eagle, father of Anna Little Eagle; Cecil Horse, father of Evelyn Horse; Vesta Anderson and John Cadue, parents of Margaret Cadue; Elmer Manatowa, father of Maxine Manatowa; Bernard Simpson, father of Robert Simpson; Ernest Blueback, father of Idalena Blueback; Beatrice Anderson, mother of Joe Bruner; Rosetta Smith, mother of Cecelia Johnson. After consulting the class for other items of interest we find—

That Julia Harjo is the youngest senior, as she was sixteen on last July 17.

That Eliza Morgan has the distinction of having done all her twelve years of school work at Chilocco, and Ida Stribling has attended Chilocco for eleven years—records that will not be duplicated again since elementary grades were discontinued at Chilocco several years ago.

That thirty two of the seniors have been together since eighth grade days.

That N. C. Gladd, Joe Fleming, Florita Fleming, and DeRoy Skinner have been on the academic honor roll for four years at Chilocco, and Betty Jo Cline has the same honor for each of her three years at Chilocco.

That the story in the annual called "What Chilocco Means to Us", represents the combined efforts of Brownie Griffin, George Gritts, Virginia Knight and Margaret Cadue.

That Naomi Hogan should be remembered as the junior's choice for Prom Queen in 1937, and that Arleen Spooner received the honor of being Miss Chilocco at the annual Arkalalah festival in 1937.

That two of the senior boys, Calvin Jones and Jacob Cornsilk, took jobs of work at the beginning of the second semester, Calvin as a baker and Jacob as a shoe maker.

That honor students from each of the departments are—Agriculture, Howard Kilpatrick; Home Economics, Nancy Seabolt; Trades, Joe Grayson; Related, Joe Fleming; Advisory, Velma Hogan; Joe Grayson.

FOOTBALL TEAM — 1937-38

SENIOR LETTERMEN

SUPPORT events during years '37-'38 found sixteen seniors winning honors. Members of the nation-wide famous boxing team were the unofficial National champions in the Indian Service. The Indians invaded the camp at Haskell, scalped the tribes and won the return match in the local ring. Earlier in the season they donned war paint and out-pointed the Bacone Red Rovers. In mid-season they over came their brother-tribesmen of the Ft. Sill reservation. Still later in the season they turned back the Albuquerque redskins to claim the unofficial championship.

Seniors winning letters in boxing are, Bill Tiger, Donald Sharp, Vincent Myers, Jasper Swake, Joe Bruner, and Solomon McIntosh.

Grid honors went to nine seniors including Charles Colbert, Jess Underwood, Houston Hair, Joe Grayson, Leo Hunter, John D. Isaac, Woodrow James, Elmer Harjo, Vincent Myers and Ramsey Knight.

John D. Isaac was the lone star cager of the senior class; he was the mainstay of the offense for the quintet throughout the basketball season averaging 12 points each game.

For the baseball season of '37 letters went to Emmett Howery, John D. Isaac and Elmer Harjo.

WHAT CHILOCCO MEANS TO US

TO THE class of '38 Chilocco has been a source of inspiration made possible through the patient working together of Indian boys and girls with the guidance of capable instructors.

As seniors we have matured sufficiently to realize that an education is more essential for Indian youth today than ever before. In the past generations Indians found their own culture and knowledge sufficient, but today in competition with their white brothers a more special kind of information is needed. To keep up with the march of time our ancestors accepted the white man's mode of living and to live up to these standards our generation is still bridging the gap between Indian ways and white man's ways.

Chilocco offers a course in education that is basically home making and agricultural, for after all this will be the foundation for the life's work of most of the Indian youths in Oklahoma.

For many of the class of '38 there have been other opportunities selected and followed in courses in baking, printing, cleaning and pressing, barbering, electricity, carpentry, plumbing and masonry, which have prepared the boys to be more able to be self-supporting in their communities.

To every senior in the class there have been opened doors of useful and pleasant information found in the class rooms, which add to the general education necessary to find one's place in life.

In later years when our minds wander down memory lane to a school where ivy covered stone buildings stand, with shady walks, and graceful trees, we shall not forget the friends we made, nor the happy hours spent with these friends who taught us the wisdom of knowing how to get along with people. Those activities that we now think of as social, such as, parties, sports, music, and clubs, and those organizations that helped in training leaders such as Student Council, Hi-Y, and Y. W. C. A., we know exerted an influence that we shall always feel.

Our school has been a counsellor, a friend, a kind father and mother, as well as a community that has taught us to think of and consider the rights of others, which any citizen would consider in his daily living.

"Oh Chilocco; Oh Chilocco,
Where your old stone buildings stand.
Oh Chilocco; Oh Chilocco,
Ivy covered they are grand.
They are monuments of hope,
As we on learning's ladder grope.
School that makes our dreams come true,
We are ever loyal to you."

STUDENT COUNCIL '37 - '38

THE CHILOCCO STUDENT COUNCIL

WHEN the military system was abolished a few years ago the student body made attempts to find a way by which the students would have a voice in the government of Chilocco. In 1931 the school group leaders started their monthly meetings to discuss campus problems. Two years of this experiment made them realize that their opinions on campus problems interested the school officials and advisers, and it was decided that there should be an organization with a few outstanding students as members. Mr. Keller, in 1933, organized the Boys' Council. A year or two after formation of the Boys' Council, plans were made by Miss Stowell to set up a similar organization for the girls.

In February of 1936 the Boys' Council and Girls' Council met for the first time in joint session, forming the Chilocco Student Council. Since then the council has been active in projects for the welfare of the students. It has sponsored the all-school assemblies, the group leaders' annual big parties, and movements for better citizenship.

The meetings are held on the first and third Thursday nights of every month in the Home Five reading room. The members are chosen by the students to represent the various departments including Agricultural, Trades, Academic, Home Economics, and Advisory.

The aims of the Council are to develop higher standards of living and ideals, to promote student leadership and responsibility, and provide finer social contacts.

The present members are DeRoy Skinner, President; Donald Sharp, Vice-President; Velma Hogan, Secretary; Virginia Scritchfield, Reporter; Brownie Griffin, Mary Kingfisher, Birdie Hogner, Estella Sunday, Anna Mae Coker, Betty Lee Hogner, Maxine Stevenson, Raymond Harjo, Leslie Cusher, Joe Grayson, Joe Fleming, Void Jenkins, Harlan Bushyhead, Houston Hair and George Gritts.

Conclusion

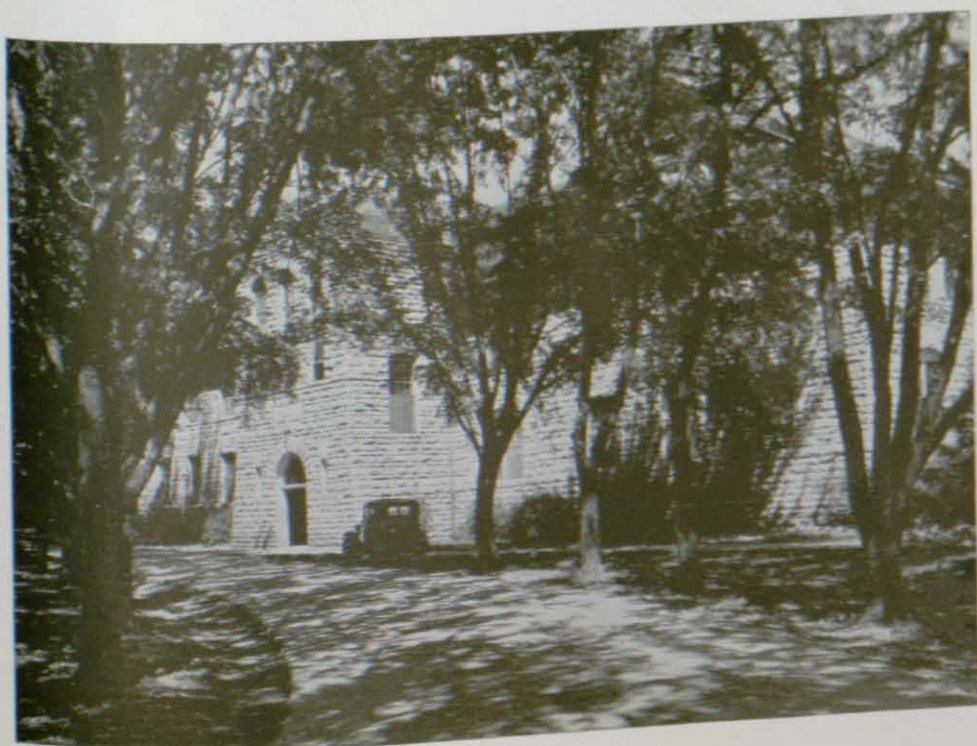

This Chiloccoan presents for the class of '38 only a few of the many factors which have contributed to their education. It is the purpose of this brief year book to present in stories and pictures a kind of personal record treasured for its memories by the seniors and valued by others as an account, relating the achievements of a group of Indian youth.
